As we know, in the world, learning and teaching foreign languages, especially English, attracts representatives of various fields. Also, in the paragraph "Development of the field of education and science" of the action strategy for the further development of the Republic of Uzbekistan, important tasks such as "further improvement of the continuous education system, increase of quality education services, continuation of the policy of training highly qualified personnel in accordance with the modern needs of the labor market" are defined. It is given. The importance of perfect knowledge of foreign languages is very important for our people, who are trying to take a worthy place in the world community. Learning a new language improves your memory, concentration and problem solving skills. After all, when you learn a new language, you concentrate on one place, remember the words and use the words in the process of speaking. Definitely, this process enhances brain activity. It is natural that learning English improves the quality of communication with others, because we enrich our vocabulary in a new language. For example, when we learn English, we listen to small dialogues and practice them. Learning foreign languages can improve your career prospects and open up new opportunities. Traditionally, children have begun studying foreign languages at secondary school, but introducing them earlier is recommended by some educationalists. The obvious argument in its favour is that young children pick up languages much more easily than teenagers.

Currently, many young people are preparing for the IELTS exam after completing their General English degree. However, in many cases, we witness that students can not speak English fluently. To solve this problem, Jeremy Chiron recommends 10 rules. To solve this problem, Jeremy Chiron recommends 10 rules.
