

INTEGRATION OF LANGUAGE AND JOURNALISM

Saidova Zilola Urakovna

*Senior Lecturer at the Department of Foreign Languages
University of Journalism and Mass Communications of Uzbekistan*

Abstract. The integrative approach establishes interconnections between knowledge from different fields, ensuring an understanding of the overall picture. Integrating language and journalism opens up vast opportunities for creating high-quality, in-depth, and multifaceted content. Journalists with deep linguistic knowledge can analyze the formation of public opinion through language—identifying manipulative techniques, assessing the tone of texts, and conducting media discourse research.

Keywords. Article, independent thinking, information, ability to self-learn, field, critical thinking, integrative approach

Integrating language with journalism opens up vast opportunities for creating high-quality, in-depth, and multifaceted content [2]. Here are several key directions in which these two fields can be effectively combined:

- Enhancing Linguistic Proficiency for High-Quality Content

A strong command of language enables journalists to produce articles, reports, and news stories where ideas are conveyed, logically, and without ambiguity. Understanding stylistic nuances and linguistic subtleties helps tailor texts for different target audiences—whether it be business publications, entertainment articles, or analytical materials [1].

- Analyzing Language in Media and Public Discourse

Journalists with deep linguistic knowledge can analyze how public opinion is shaped through language—identifying manipulative techniques, assessing the tone of texts, and conducting media discourse studies. Proficiency in multiple languages broadens access to primary sources, facilitates interviews, and allows for in-depth analysis of international materials, thereby increasing the objectivity and depth of journalistic investigations [3].

- Using Language as a Tool for Creative Storytelling

Language mastery allows journalists to craft compelling narratives where they do more than just report facts—they immerse the reader in the atmosphere of events, making the material emotionally engaging. The use of literary elements such as metaphors, allusions, and symbolism enriches journalistic texts, making them more expressive and memorable [6].

- Intercultural Communication and Multilingualism

Knowledge of foreign languages enables journalists to work with international sources, conduct interviews with experts from different countries, and create content that reflects a global perspective. Understanding cultural and linguistic specificities helps accurately interpret and present information, avoiding stereotypes and miscommunication [4].

- Education and Self-Development

By integrating language skills into journalistic practice, professionals can continuously enhance their expertise, stay updated on trends in media and literature, and experiment with various formats and genres. The combination of linguistic and journalistic skills contributes to developing educational platforms where practical examples and in-depth analysis help students understand both the art of language and the intricacies of modern media [5].

Thus, the integration of language and journalism not only strengthens professional skills but also enables the creation of more insightful, diverse, and high-quality materials. This fosters the development of well-rounded specialists capable of adapting to the rapidly evolving information landscape [1].

REFERENCES:

1. Gere, A. R. (1992). Language and Reflection: An Integrated Approach to Teaching English. Macmillan Prentice-Hall, Order Processing, PO Box 11072, Des Moines, IA 50336-1071.
2. Saidova, Zilola Urakovna, and Dilorom Bakhadirovna Sultanova. "DEVELOPMENT OF COMPETENCIES FOR STUDENTS'SELF-STUDY IN A CREDIT-MODULE SYSTEM AS A PEDAGOGICAL PROBLEM." Oriental renaissance: Innovative, educational, natural and social sciences 3.22 (2023): 109-112.
3. Turgunova, F. M. (2023). THE EFFECTIVE USE OF ORAL SPEECH AS A MEANS OF TEACHING FOREIGN LANGUAGES. Oriental renaissance: Innovative, educational, natural and social sciences, 3(22), 193-195.
4. Urakovna, S. Z., & Bakhadirovna, S. D. (2022). FORMS, METHODS AND PRIORITIES OF INDEPENDENT EDUCATION.
5. Urakovna, S. Z. (2025). THE ROLE OF AN INTEGRATED APPROACH FOR CREATING AN AUTHENTIC LANGUAGE ENVIRONMENT. YANGI O'ZBEKISTON, YANGI TADQIQOTLAR JURNALI, 2(4), 171-174.
6. Urakovna, Saidova Zilola, and Sultanova Dilorom Bakhadirovna. "DEVELOPMENT OF COMPETENCIES FOR STUDENTS'SELF-STUDY IN A CREDIT-MODULE SYSTEM AS A PEDAGOGICAL PROBLEM." DEVELOPMENT 3 (2023): 22.